Welcome to Market Center, Baltimore City's most central, diverse shopping district.

Market Center is on the move! We're proud to have over 300 businesses and organizations calling our neighborhood home. You can find everything from locally made jewelry and luxury apparel to affordable clothes, housewares, beauty products, and groceries at our many retailers, a mix of independent and unique businesses along with a sprinkling of national chains.

Hungry? Market Center's many restaurants and carry-outs feature cuisines from across the globe at a range of prices. Within Market Center, you can dine on food from India to Italy, Ethiopia to Korea, and Peru to Afghanistan, not to mention hometown favorites like chicken and waffles and Chesapeake Bay seafood. There's an option for every price point and palate within our neighborhood.

Market Center is increasingly becoming a foodie destination. We're home to Lexington Market, the nation's oldest continually operating public market, where you can buy fresh and prepared foods—some from generations-old businesses. A newcomer on the food scene is Mount Vernon Marketplace, a convivial food hall consistently showcasing some of Baltimore City's tastiest new food concepts.

If you're seeking some culture to stir your soul or a spot for socializing, Market Center has a well-rounded arts and entertainment scene. World-class live theater, art galleries, multi-purpose arts spaces that regularly host exhibits and live performances, and several bars and clubs lie within our boundaries. Market Center has recently hosted both the Charm City Fringe Festival and Charm City Night Market, which are helping to cement Market Center's reputation as the place to go in Baltimore for outstanding arts, culture, and food. These festivals are both from within the Baltimore AND the global community.

Last but certainly not least, Market Center makes it easy for people to access necessary personal and professional services. In Market Center, you can get your yoga on, repair your shoes, freshen your hairstyle, consult a lawyer, and even order a custom iron piece for your home from the country's oldest continually operating blacksmith!
